1. INTRODUCTION

Gymnastics is a judgement sport. As a result, the rules for officiating must be transparent, fair and must maintain sport justice for all athletes. Judges are trained within their own federation gaining valuable experience before entering the international scene. The FIG is responsible to provide educational courses and a fair examination process to achieve the international level of brevet.

Judges officiating at competitions have to:

- maintain integrity of all decisions, showing no preference or bias
- possess competence to apply the Code of Points and other rules of the FIG
- demonstrate good moral and ethical behavior
- show respect to others by being punctual and respecting all rules
- respect the judges' oath and the FIG Code of Ethics.

Any close family relative* to a competitive gymnast may not judge that gymnast or his/her unit (pair, group, etc.) at any FIG sanctioned event. If a conflict should or could appear, the following people are to be informed, so appropriate action can be taken:

Competitions with a FIG TD & OG/YOG/TWG qualifying competitions: Secretary General, TC President and President of Superior Jury (if different)

All other competitions: TC President and President of Superior Jury (if different).

 Definition of "close family relative":*

People who are or were married to, or live in a registered partnership or co-habit with a gymnast

People who are related to a gymnast by birth or marriage in direct or in collateral line, including the following persons: grandparent, parent, uncle, aunt, brother, sister, child, grandchild, nephew and cousin.

2. GENERALITIES

The General Judges' Rules apply to all FIG competitive disciplines. Specific rules for each discipline have been developed to clarify the differences. Judges' Rules are approved by the FIG Executive Committee.

The FIG International Judges' brevet is issued in accordance with the General Judges' Rules. To be considered as an internationally breveted judge during a cycle, the judges have to attend an official FIG Judges' course and pass the exam at the beginning of or during each respective cycle.

The Intercontinental and all International Judges' courses, including the regional and supplementary courses are carried out according to the protocols listed in this document. Specific operational directives have been established to ensure consistency amongst the disciplines as well as a high level of educational delivery.

The details of the procedure for the competition judges' draw, based on the principles mentioned in the Technical Regulations, are outlined in the Specific Judges' Rules.

3. JUDGES' REGISTRATION, DATABASE AND INFORMATION

Names, brevet categories and nationalities of all judges with a valid brevet are available on the FIG website. In consultation with the Technical Committees/PK Commission, the FIG Office shall maintain a database with each judge's name, nationality, brevet level, license ID number, and competition experience in the concerned discipline. All Judges' courses are published on the FIG website.

8. JUDGES' RECOGNITIONS AND AWARDS

8.1 Preamble

Judges are an integral part of the sport of gymnastics. Once a judge is breveted by FIG, then records are maintained to recognize or sanction their performance.

The nominations for recognition and awards are based on two distinct principles, excellent performance and long-term dedicated service to gymnastics as an active international official. The Technical Committees of each discipline and PK Commission establish the criteria to be used and have the responsibility to recognize judges as follows:

8.2 Excellence in Judging

This award is based on an "excellent" evaluation during a major FIG competition where a post competition control is conducted. The recognition will not apply to any specific phases of the competition, but to the overall performance during the entire event.

This will apply to the Olympic Games, Youth Olympic Games, The World Games, World Championships, Junior World Championships, and possibly World Cup, World Challenge Cup and other Multi-sport Games, if an evaluation program is carried out. There is no limit to the number of commendations a judge may receive in a cycle as long as they fulfil the criteria.

8.3 Longevity of Judging Service

This award is based on a significant contribution to gymnastics as an international official over a period of many years. The awards listed below are based on a judgment without sanctions (except verbal warnings), during the designated period.

The member Federations submits to the respective Sports Manager the name(s) of their judges deserving the gold level award between 01 January and 28 February of each year. After verification by the Sports Manager and the TC President if the conditions are met, the decision is taken and communicated once a year at the World Championships, The World Games, or significant competition with the respective discipline.

The same nomination procedure applies for the candidates for the Honorary Judges Award. However, after verification of the conditions, the Secretary General submits the request to the Executive Committee for final decision.

- a) Judges are obliged to respect the judges' oath and to execute their function at all competitions with highest possible quality (honesty and integrity) and without bias.
- b) The Technical Committee and PK Commission members are responsible for the education, control and supervision of the work of the judges. They investigate and take any action necessary during the competition, and following the event conduct an analysis of the competition videos.
- c) Unsatisfactory and/or biased judging will be subject to disciplinary proceedings and sanctions
- d) A judge can be warned once, at most a second time and then may be excluded from the competition. However, in case of a very serious mistake, the Technical President can exclude a judge immediately, without previous warning. Disciplinary actions taken during the competition (warnings or removal of a judge from the competition) may be appealed to the Jury of Appeal. Its decision is final.
- e) The assignment of sanctions and awards are the same for all disciplines. The quality of work of the judges is evaluated according to 5 criteria:

- f) During the competition, art. 7.8.1 Section 1 of the Technical Regulations applies. The actions taken during a competition are without prejudice to any possible sanction pronounced after the analysis of the judges' work following the competition.

After the competition and after the judges' analysis, written warnings may be issued by the Technical Committee via the Secretary General against judges, whose behaviour or work is assessed as unsatisfactory. The Technical Committee can also refer the case to the Disciplinary Commission of the Gymnastics Ethics Foundation (GEF) through the Secretary General. Judges who have been reported significantly bias (large and very large bias) in JEP (verified with a post competition expert score by the TC) must be brought to the GEF Disciplinary Commission by the FIG Secretary General.

- g) Sanctions because of unsatisfactory and/or biased judging apply irrespectively of whether the judge acted consciously (with intent) or unconsciously (without intent)
- h) The judges who have received a written warning by the Technical Committee after the competition may appeal to the GEF Disciplinary Commission. The appeal must be made in writing within 21 days. A judge receiving a second warning during a period of 4 years after the first warning is automatically referred to the GEF Disciplinary Commission.

10. COURSE INFORMATION, ALLOCATION, SIZE AND DURATION

10.1 Intercontinental Courses allocated by FIG

In each discipline only one Intercontinental Course will be approved per cycle, with the total number of participants as prescribed in the respective Specific Judges' Rules or course Directives.

Eligibility to attend is listed in the General Judges' Rules (see point 5), whereas the number of participants per national federation is specified in the Specific Judges' Rules.

TC Presidents of Continental Unions are invited to participate in the Intercontinental Course and are considered out of the quota per NF. If they cannot attend the Intercontinental Course, they are considered out of the quota per NF at International Courses as well.

The Intercontinental courses can include simultaneous translation, but all text presentations are in English (details will be included in the course Directives). No personal translators will be allowed. Technical Committee Members (selected experts in PK) in each discipline will deliver the course curriculum.

The candidate eligibility is determined in point 5 of these General Judges' Rules.

No "auditors" are permitted at the Intercontinental Course.

Marking of examinations and results process

The process for marking examinations and compiling the results will be done by the computer producing an automatic result.

The full and final results of the Intercontinental course (by judge number as assigned) are reviewed by the TC and the final percentages for the 5 criteria (excellent, very good, good, pass, fail) are determined. This is a Technical Committee decision and all TC members have to be part of the decision. The Technical Presidents signs off on the document. This scale is then published and applied for all other courses for the whole cycle.

These are still reflected only by judge number not name. The results have to be reviewed and finalised by the TC President with final approval by the Technical Coordinator (or Secretary General) in accordance with the evaluation scale. Results will be sent by the FIG office to the federations as soon as possible. No results are communicated at the end of any course.

10.2 International (language based) Courses allocated by FIG

International Courses will be organized on a geographic and language basis with the maximum total number of judges as prescribed in the respective Specific Judges' Rules or course Directives. Federations will then have an opportunity to bid for these multinational courses. Details of the process to be followed for each discipline are specified in the Event Bid Questionnaire and will be distributed by FIG for federation bids.

The courses will be filled on a first come - first serve basis. Course sizes will be structured as follows:

All NFs, including the Host Country, may register a number of eligible judges as per the respective Specific Judges' Rules or course Directives. After the deadline, in case of remaining places, the course will be filled in order of priority as follows:

- 3 additional judges from the host
- 3 additional judges from other federations according to the date of registration
- the LOC in agreement with the FIG will determine how many remaining places are to be filled
- Note: Federations may register reserves to be taken into consideration

A certain number of coaches as “auditors” are permitted, based on the space available. In any case, a maximum of 2 coaches per federation will be permitted. The host federation can participate with a maximum of 5 coaches. Coaches cannot intervene during the presentation sessions, but may submit questions in writing according to the policies of the course.

The International language-based courses will be available in English, Spanish, Russian and French for all disciplines. All documents (presentations) will be in the language of each course.

The Technical Committee will name the Experts who will deliver the courses. One expert/TC member max. may be from the host country; however, this expert/TC member may not be the course leader.

- For the courses up to 40 candidates 1 expert is required
- For the course with 41 to 125 candidates 2 experts are required

10.5 General Information

The individual course format is identical at Intercontinental and International (language based) courses.

All disciplines will be held at one site for each course (Intercontinental and International) with a maximum total number of participants as prescribed in the respective Specific Judges' Rules. The same course schedule will be used at all courses in each discipline.

Course Curriculum

All courses shall have the same curriculum. It is the responsibility of the FIG Technical Committees to prepare the curriculum ensuring the following:

- Good teaching principles
- Presentation using clear examples
- Special focus on the stressing changes in rules from the previous CoP
- Full routines, elements and parts, once pre-judged, are explained fully as examples

Course Delivery

- Good teaching and presentation skills
- Experience in teaching methodology
- Reasonable language skills and good command of one of the main languages
- Adequate computer skills

No Theory Examination will be held.

Practical Examination

The Technical Committee has the responsibility to set the examinations. For each discipline, multiple sets of examinations are prepared according to the needs of the discipline. The examination for the Intercontinental Course will have different exercises than the other sets.

- This exam is primarily video driven and with all attempts to use only IRCOS videos
- Each part needs to have noticeable lead and end
- The number of parts, video segments or routines, are prescribed in an evaluation chart for practical examinations
- The length of time for scoring full routines is prescribed according to the Specific Judges' Rules for each discipline
- The allotted time for candidates to arrive at the score is to be imbedded into the running of the examination video using a count-down clock, so it remains consistent and accurate and well viewed by the candidates
- Music must be clear and able to be enhanced by a speaker system

- Multiple sets of videos are distinctively identified only by the FIG office.
- A FIG video expert must be available to assist the TC's with the preparation
- The pool of material and videos, the process, and then the selection and the structuring of the practical component is determined by each TC President in conjunction with the FIG Office
- One to two FIG technicians will be at the Intercontinental and International courses to ensure proper functioning of the examination video and results' system.

For the Examination, the expert scores are prepared by the Technical Committee in advance. The environment for this prejudging will be the same as the candidates will experience. A special directive for this prejudging procedure is outlined in the Directives for expert scores. This process will be followed by all disciplines.

The final compilation of the practical test packages will be finalized by the FIG office once all the steps of the process are completed. All examinations are maintained at the FIG office. TC members or experts do not have copies.

Examination Delivery

Examinations, which confirm brevet levels in all courses, must be prepared and delivered with great responsibility and care following the protocols and directives as approved. Candidates must be given a good explanation of the process which will be followed and the conditions of the test have to be fair, transparent, and identical at each course and in all disciplines.

The maximum time limit and any other exact aspects of the examination procedure have to be clearly explained and understood by the candidates.

The examination delivery will be identical at all courses, except the Regional courses. There is only a distinction for the size of the course and the facilities. In most cases the candidates may have to be divided into 2 groups, according to the directives provided, to ensure good viewing for all candidates and to maintain the level of confidentiality.

The Administrator (not used at Regional Courses) is responsible to deliver the instructions and forms to the candidates and they are the primary individual responsible for the integrity of the examination process.

Candidates are not allowed to keep any examination papers. Candidates will be assigned seating by the Administrator.

Once the candidates are in the examination room, and a roll call is made, they are assigned a judge's number and these are only known to the Administrator.

To ensure judge anonymity, each judge will enter his/her number in the tablet /form provided.

For the Intercontinental, International language-based and Supplementary courses the scores given by the candidates will be directly registered in a tablet provided by FIG.

For the Regional courses the scores given by the candidates will be registered on the paper forms provided by FIG.
